Assembly Sounds For Military Ball Friday

Frosh Meets Soph Sunday At Field Day

Next Sunday afternoon will witness the 1942 edition of the Frosh-Soph Field Day on the lower playing field. At 1:30 p. m., the freshmen will take to the field to prove their athletic ability to a rather dubious sophomore class.

Chairman Ted Thoma announced today that the program will include: 50, 100, 220 yard dashes, 440 yard run, 880 yard relay, broad and high jumps. The climax of the day will be the mass soccer game between the two classes.

Two touch football games are planned for the day. The contestants will be the Day Sophs vs. Day Frosh and Dorm Sophs vs. Dorm Frosh.

The field day committee, in addition to Thoma, consists of Sophomores Dick Weber, Don Romer and Ray Hellman and Freshman Bob Dwyer and Jim Wood.

Members of the "X" Club will act as referees for the various events. The Student Council is planning to furnish refreshments.

Heidelberg Club Buys War Bonds

President Len Kuehnle of the Heidelberg Club announced at the Oct. 14 meeting that the club had adopted the patriotic plan of buying war stamps and bonds with the dues that will be taken in this year.

It is the annual custom of the club to select and discuss some German subject of literature and art. The subject chosen for discussion this year is Goethe's drama, Faust.

This program of activity for the club was announced at the smoker held at the Fenwick Club, Oct. 14. The evening proved to be very entertaining to the old members and numerous prospective members.

Memo To Pre-Meds

Warning was issued this week to Pre-Medical students by Rev. John J. Benson, S. J., Dean of the College of Liberal Arts, that Selective Service deferments will not be granted to those students who are not entering Medical School on the next succeeding term. Father Benson stated that a new ruling has been issued by Selective Service Headquarters instructing Local Boards not to defer students entering Medical School in June, 1943. Under the interpretation Father Benson said that it was advisable for those students affected to enlist in one or other of the Reserve Corps programs.

Symphony Series To Begin Sunday

Next Sunday afternoon at 3:00 P. M., in Music Hall, the first concert of the College Symphonic Series will be presented by the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra under Eugene Goossens.

Although season tickets at $2.20 for the four concerts of the series are no longer obtainable on the campus, Xavier students interested in securing these can get them at the Cincinnati Symphony Office, 519 Gwynne Building, at Sixth and Main Streets, Leland Schneider, Xavier representative announced. Single admissions the afternoon of the concerts will be 80c per concert.

The dates of the concerts are Sunday afternoons: November 1, December 27, January 24, and February 28. Students who have purchased season strips may have their money refunded on any tickets left over if they are called into the service before the season is over.

Next Sunday's program consists of selections by Mendelssohn, Schumann, Grieg, and Stravinsky.

Cannon Ball Booms Xavier Scrap Stock

With but three days remaining of the drive, Xavier's scrap pile has grown to very sizeable proportions. Notable additions to the pile include bathtubs, automobile fenders, and hitching posts. The most extraordinary of the scrap collections was a Civil War cannon ball, which is now on display in the Bursar's office.

According to the latest reports from the Cincinnati newspapers, sponsors of the drive, Xavier held a slight lead over the scrap collectors of the University of Cincinnati. Collections are still being made and Chairman Jack Beckman asks that any student willing to work on the scrap trucks contact himself or Bob Dwyer, freshman.

Announcement of the winner of the drive will be made on Nov. 3. The contest prize, which will probably be a War Bond, will be awarded at half-time ceremonies of the Xavier-U. C. football game, Nov. 21.

Jean Buescher, Honorary Colonel To Be Commissioned At Dance

Several Cadets To Be Appointed To Xavier Order Of Military Merit; Presentation Of Trophies

PRESENT ARMS! As this command sounds out 9:00 o'clock tomorrow night in the Hall of Mirrors, Netherland Plaza, six scarlet guidons will dip in presentation, officially opening the most colorful ROTC Military Ball yet planned by the Xavier Corps under the command of Cadet Colonel Alvin Lantz. To the strains of the Field Artillery Song, the Color Guard will march in with the Colonel Charles F. Williams Colors and the Ball will be underway.

Philosophy Club Adds Five Juniors

The Xaverian Philosophical Society selected five new members for the coming term at the meeting on October 6. Out of the twelve men considered, these five were accepted: Thomas Beechem, Robert Burke, Hugh Gootee, Rourke Sheehan, and Joseph Sommer. Burke is carrying on the traditions of his family; his brother, Lt. Ed. Burke, is a charter member of the society.

At the meeting of October 13, John Rieser will read his paper: Political Philosophy in the Middle Ages.

Climaxing the evening will be the commissioning of the newly elected Honorary Cadet Colonel, Miss Jean Buescher, at midnight when Colonel Alpha Brumage pins the three diamonds of her rank on her shoulders. Miss Buescher will be guest at a reception banquet given in her honor by the Advanced Course before the dance. At her first command for the Corps, "For the Grand March, Fall In," the Corps of Cadets will fall in behind Miss Buescher, escorted by Cadet Colonel Lantz, as she leads the cadets in the Grand March.

Evening Program

A splendid program has been arranged for the evening. While Will Hauser and the boys of his orchestra take a break at 10:15, three basic cadets, John Monley, Robert Hecht, and Lewis Wuchner will present their own instrumental program.

At 11:00 after a flourish on the bugle at the command of Adjutant at the Ball, Cadet Captain Neal Gilmartin, awards consisting of medals and the red fourrageres of the Xavier Order of Military Merit will be made to deserving members of the Corps. Gilmartin will then introduce Dr. James T. Clear, who will present Colonel Alpha Brumage with the pistol trophies which will be awarded to outstanding pistol experts later in the year.

Members of the Xavier Corps who will be officially admitted into the Xavier Order of Military Merit Friday night are: Cadet Captain Neal Gilmartin; Warrant Officer Harry Germann, Master Sergeants Thomas Anthony, Robert Heil, Bernard Krekeler; and First Sergeants Thomas Beechem and John Wenstrup.

Grand March

At the stroke of midnight Cadet Colonel Lantz and the present Honorary Cadet Colonel Virginia Niemer will take their position on the bandstand. Accompanied by an honorary escort, Cadet Colonel Jean Buescher will march into the ballroom to receive her commission. The Grand March will follow and will be climaxed with the distribution of favors. A few more colorful dances bring the grand occasion to its termination and the final dismissal at one o'clock.

The committee of Cadets, ably assisted by First Lieut. Robert Burwell, assistant professor of military science and tactics will have finished their fine work at that time.

Alumni and Undergrads Make Plans For Annual Homecoming Celebration

Reception, Dance Feature Alumni's Annual Gathering

Plans for the annual homecoming, scheduled this year on Nov. 7, in conjunction with the Marshall-Xavier grid encounter, took definite form this week.

Sponsored by the Alumni Association and the Graduate members of the "X" Club, the homecoming will feature a post-game reception to be held in the private dining room of the Kemper Lane Hotel.

Highlight of the evening will be the Alumni Homecoming Dance in the Victory Ball Room of the Kemper Lane to which all alumni and friends of the University have been invited.

Special entertainment will be presented at half-time of the football game in honor of the visiting grads, it was announced by Col. Alpha Brumage, P. M. S. and T.

Mr. Thomas L. Eagen, vice-president of the Alumni Association, is acting chairman of the homecoming festivities. Assisting him on the committee are James P. Bolger, John J. Fisher, Paul D. Cain, E. Leo Koester, U. S. Commissioner J. Paul Geoghegan, Arthur J. Conway, Paul E. Gosiger, William Seidenfaden, and Brodford Sullivan.

Will Hauser And Orchestra To Play For Undergrads

To wind up a day of homecoming events, the Undergraduate "X" Club will sponsor the annual homecoming dance, Saturday, Nov. 7, in the Marie Antoinette Ballroom of the Hotel Alms, from 9 p. m., until 1 a. m.

Providing music for the dance will be Will Hauser and his band. Hauser is one of the most popular of the local bands. His most recent engagement was at the Lookout House and his band will soon appear at the Topper (Continued on Page 4)

Neal's Nuggets By "Buzz" Faessler

Scrap—

I noticed that somebody donated a bath-tub to our growing scrap pile . . . that's what I call an all out effort to make this contest a clean fight.

Buzz Says—

Herbert H. may have been the first one to think of putting a chicken in every pot but we must admit that F. D. R. is the first one to do anything about carrying it out. . . I'll bet it was a Republican that suggested excluding fowls from the meat-rationing restrictions.

Let Them Use Whitewash!—

With the U. C.-Xavier game getting closer and closer and the rivalry getting hotter and hotter let's hope the boys from Burnet Woods don't get any Campus painting ideas. . . and if they do — let's hope they start in the News Sanctum!

Routine Apology—

Here, but for the grace of an editor's blue pencil, is a lengthy, funny column . . . okay, so I'm bragging.

Circulate, Buzz!—

I got some very good news yesterday. The government promised that if I take these calisthenics seriously and develop my body to the point where the blood starts circulating, they'll let me join the U. S. forces . . . I always wanted to be a Boy Scout.

A Bird To The Ladies—

The ostrich is a funny bird As you no doubt have heard, His face so shames him in a crowd He hides his poor head in the ground And shows his plumes so proud. But this poor bird, my scornful chum, Is not so doggone dumb, For I've seen girls with far worse faces . . . Who merely hide them 'neath some paint And take them to the finest places!

Shh! Genius Working—

I modestly admit that I devised a marvelous new play while watching the Creighton game. Here's how it goes — The center snaps the ball. The left half whips out a pistol and shoots everyone on the field who knows anything about forward passes — the coach whips out the rule book and tears out the section devoted to the same, and the fullback dashes over to the bench and fills the ball with lead just in case the left half missed anyone. . . It can't miss!

Senior Sketches

By Tom Beechem

Slowly and softly, lingering refrains of Xavier Chimes die. And with the completion of the song, the Clef Club disbands again until the next recital. The man behind the schedule — the business manager of the organization — steps forward. His name . . . John Goettke.

John entered Xavier University in the fall of 1939 as a graduate of Purcell High School. Possessing a unique record in high school, attendance at four schools in four years, he quickly settled into the rigorous routine of college work. Goettke soon established himself as a scholastic leader in the University, and also entered extracurricular activities.

Of the latter achievements, John can include freshman football, Sodality of the Blessed Virgin, the Masque Society, Xavier Order of Military Merit, Military Ball Committee, and Musketeeer staff — the final four honors attained in his junior and senior years. Undoubtedly, however, the Clef Club has captivated the spirit of the young man the greatest, for John has this to say concerning the group:

"The Clef Club is the finest organization to which I have ever belonged. Its spirit and performances have greatly enhanced my college career."

Military Interests

Not only in the fine arts does the interest of Goettke lie, but also in the practical art and science of military. A member of a class whose entry into the advanced course in ROTC occurred in the comparative safety of peacetime, he began the officers' training program with the idea that perhaps this field was the profession for him. The rigorous discipline of the military also induced John to make this step, since he considers that this type of regulation supplies a much-needed means of training for the maturing man.

Philosophy at Xavier also came within the province of praise by the resident of Deer Park. "Its principles permeates my life", quotes the coming graduate. This fact is certainly an approval of the Ratio Studiorum.

Finally, Goettke expressed his thanksgiving for the democratic spirit of the campus, which aided greatly in the formation of worthwhile and enduring friendships with the finest men possible as classmates.

In January, John will leave the University to join Xavier alumni in the United States Army.

Being A Glance

. . . . Thru the kaleidoscope of student activity and student thought.

. . . . By Bill Schrimpf

From The Guest Book

Recently we attended a meeting of one of the more popular campus-clubs at which the new Dean of Freshmen was a guest. When called upon for the usual "few words" Father Wernert commented on the unique spirit which he noted at Xavier. He called it the "family spirit," — the sense of everyone belonging and working together.

What he said was quite apart from the usual malarky of such an occasion. He was sincere. We've noted this spirit on other occasions. For instance:

It was the last home football game X played under the lights. We were escorting a guest, who attends a large out-of-town university, to the Parkway entrance of the stadium. It was almost time for the opening whistle. Glancing up towards the campus we innocently remarked, "It's a shame it's so dark. Otherwise you could see my school. It's right up there." Immediately there was a rather indignant rejoinder from one of the X-boys with us, "Whadda'ya mean your school? Where'd you get the exclusive rights?" After we had satisfactorily amended our statement our out-of-town guest observed, "I've never heard anyone fuss about something like that before. Why I can't imagine anyone worrying about whom our university belongs to—nobody cares!"

Kid Stuff

Once more the notices are out that tickets for the annual College Symphony Concert Series are available. Perhaps we're prejudiced about these concerts because we happened to be members of the first college committee to meet with Eugene Goossens to formulate and promote the idea in 1940.

At the time, it was uncertain what kind of reception the plan would receive. There was to be a series of concerts exclusively for people of senior high-school and college age. No one over twenty-five was to be admitted, and the tariff was to be set at a minimum.

Two test concerts were held that season. They met with more than gratifying success. Last season, the series was increased to four—a full house resulted every night.

By allowing the people of college age to come together in a group of their own intellectual and social level, the Series has proven to them that one need not be a budding genius to enjoy symphony music. It also gives them a chance to become acquainted with youthful masters of the musical world who make their debut as soloists in these concerts. Augmented by the few interesting explanations of the conductor, they have found themselves able to enjoy the best of the fine art, without any overwhelming expenditure of effort. Most of them are grateful that they are able to be instructed in such a joyous experience and relieved to find their prejudices unfounded.

Musketeers Bow To Dayton Flyers, 20-13

Vikertosky's Grid Finale Is Brilliant Performance

Dayton University's Flyers opened up in the second half of last Saturday night's game after trailing 7-6 at the half, and managed to pound out a 20-13 decision over Xavier's Musketeers. The Musketeers, with Chet Mutryn, Pete Marino, and Jim Arata on the bench, were forced to call upon virtually every player on the squad for replacements during the wild second half.

But it took the final gun to accomplish what all of the Dayton players players could not—stop Mike Vikertosky. "Vikers", who was playing his final game, was all over the field. He played the entire 60 minutes; turned in tackle after tackle; and returned an intercepted pass 20 yards to initiate Xavier's final touchdown thrust. But this effort wasn't enough to stop the Flyers who were visibly loaded for Musketeer.

Eleven thousand fans packed the stands to see Dayton's Knisley get the scoring under way in the first 5 minutes, by passing to Zoul on the X. U. 25 yard line. The play was good for 40 yards and a touchdown. Vikertosky sliced through to block the try from placement.

Wood Scores For X

Just three minutes later, Don Wood, who started at left half, hit a stone wall at right tackle, bounced back and circled the end for 3 yards and six points. The drive had covered 80 yards and was featured by jaunts of 16 and 25 yards by Bob Brown, Musky right half. This last run carried the ball to the U. D. 25, and a roughing penalty on the same play moved it to the ten. Plunges by Brown and Stankovich set up Wood's scoring effort. John Donadio split the uprights to send Xavier ahead 7-6.

Xavier failed to capitalize on two later scoring efforts in the first half. A fumble in the X

SPORT

Elmo Ravensberg is known to some as the end of the line; but you probably know him as the square jawed guy with a prank or a joke perpetually up his sleeve; or perhaps as the six-footer with the "X" sweater, pockets bulging with green tickets. However you know him, you will probably agree that he is O. K.

Elmore was born and raised in Bellevue, Kentucky, where his father own the "Spot" Hamburger stand. At Bellevue High School, his lack of weight was overcome by his determination to make "Good." He lettered in football, basketball, and track there in his Junior and Senior years. As a Senior, he was All-Conference End.

Man About Bellevue

Elmo had to prove his worth as a college performer; his lack of weight caused Coaches to doubt his ability. However, he has more than satisfied Coach Clem Crowe at Xavier. Football is his main interest, and he has made good at it. He has won "X" monograms the past two years. His wisecracks on the field keep the team in good spirits. When not in uniform, practicing, or studying, our Left End can be found cheering for his kid-brother Bob at Bellevue, working the griddle at the "Spot," or bowling on his father's team—a hard worker, and an All-American guy.

backfield nullified Mulligan's recovery of a Knisley fumble when he tried to "play smart" by scooping up a punt with four Musketeers looking on. Still later, a 15 yard pushing penalty killed a Weis to Ense pass that had carried to Dayton's seven.

The Flyers came to life before the half ended to march to the Xavier 6, where, with fourth and one to go, Knisley lost five yards. Donadio punted out as the half ended.

Dayton Scores Twice

The second half was a different story. Dayton was continually deep in Xavier territory, and the Musketeer attack bogged down in the rough play. After turning back one Flyer drive within the five yard line, Xavier got a bad break when Donadio's punt bounced backward to the 20. On the first play, Knisley passed to Schmidt, Flyer quarterback, to send the Gem City team out in front. Zack's kick was good and Dayton led 13-7.

The Musketeers could gain nothing after receiving the kickoff, and Donadio punted to the U. D. 45. On the second play, Knisley hit left tackle, reversed his field and went 55 yards for a score. Again Zack converted, ending Dayton's scoring.

Weis' Pass Goes For TD

Some five minutes after the final quarter had gotten under way, Vikertosky grabbed a Knisley pass on the Xavier 20 and returned it to his own 39. A slugging penalty against Dayton carried the ball to the Flyer 31. And on the first play Weis passed to Perrine who took the ball on the fifteen and raced for the touchdown. Donadio's kick was blocked.

Dayton made one more scoring attempt when Rudnick's field goal try from the 22 went wide. The game ended a minute (Continued on Page 4)

NEWS, TAVERN TO RENEW RIVALRY ON GRIDIRON

Commemorating the day that stands for victory for the Allies in the last war, the stellar News staff will drive forward to a similar decisive victory on this Nov. 11. The lot of the vanquished falls to the Mermaid Tavern, which recently signed its death-warrant—the challenge addressed to the aforementioned News, appearing on the Science Hall bulletin board. So, the two squads will battle it out on the Xavier gridiron.

This glorious day in News annals will mark the sinking of the "fish outfit" (quoting Lt. Cissel) and the hostilities will begin and end with the powerful "scoopers," evidencing their prowess on every front. Departing from their heretofore peaceful pursuits of daisy-like penmanship, the fish peddlers may well rue the day.

Fear Tavern's Extinction

Lest the forms of Mine-Host Rentrop and his haughty henchmen will not be seen intact again, we here present their starting lineup. It is only tentative, inasmuch as one or more of the "little fishies" may get smart and elect to withdraw while in one piece. Coach Farrell's "iron men" speak for themselves.

DODGE THAT DATE

Xavier's schedule makers would do well to go out of their way in order to obtain an open date on October 18th in subsequent seasons. In 1941, the Musketeers suffered their only loss of the season on that date, losing to Kentucky 21-6. Mutryn was injured in the same game. This year, October the 18th saw Xavier do everything but outscore Creighton as they lost 14-13. And in the last minute of play, Mutryn suffered an injury that prevented him from taking part in the Dayton fracas.

ALL IS NOT GOLD—

Dick Nesbitt, WKRC sportscaster, could have been accused of looking on the bright side of life last Saturday afternoon. Bringing the Cincinnati fans an account of the Georgia-U. C. contest, Nesbitt took time out near the end of the second quarter (when the Bearcats trailed 21-0) to observe:

"Though Georgia leads at the present time, the Bearcats have outdistanced the Southerners in the punting department."

Dick forgot to add that Georgia as yet, hadn't been called on to punt!

BLUEJAY BOUQUETS

The Creightonian, official Creighton University organ, gives the Musketeers a fine write up in its latest issue. In fact, it heaves a sigh of relief that the Bluejays were able to skin through. Special mention is made of the work of Musketeer backs—the running of Mutryn, Brown, and Stankovich, and the blocking of McClure.

SORRY, CAM?

Cam Henderson, coach of Marshall's Thundering Herd, is paying for the days when he played "close-the-gates-of-mercy" football. (Remember that 40-0 shellacking Xavier took in '40?) (Continued on Page 4)

Making arrangements for the dance is an "X" Club committee consisting of Jack Tetens, Bob Kruer and Jay O'Hara. The committee has announced that all students and their friends are invited to the dance. Special guests of the "X" Club will be the players of Marshall College, Xavier's opponent in the Homecoming Day football game.

Dance tickets may be purchased from any member of the Undergraduate "X" Club. Price is $1.50 per couple and $1.00 stag.

As an innovation, the committee has arranged that tables will be set up in nite-club style, but it is emphasized that soft drinks only will be served at tables. The committee has made it known that the permission for tables is a concession by the school authorities and will be taken away at future dances if the rules are not observed.

Dayton Loss . . .

later.

The Musketeers get their first break since the Carroll game, however, in the guise of an open date next week. They then meet Marshall in the final home game of the season on November 7th.

The final two games of the season will be played away: the first, Ohio U.; the other at Nipert Stadium.

IN THE ARMY they say—

"BUBBLE DANCING" for dish-washing
"HASH MARK" for service stripe
"HIGH BALL" for an extra snappy salute
"CAMEL" for their favorite cigarette

• With men in the Army, Navy, Marines, and Coast Guard, the favorite cigarette is Camel. (Based on actual sales records in Post Exchanges and Canteens.)

The "T-Zone"
where cigarettes
are judged

The "T-ZONE"—Taste and Throat—is the proving ground for cigarettes. Only your taste and throat can decide which cigarette tastes best to you...and how it affects your throat. For your taste and throat are individual to you. Based on the experience of millions of smokers, we believe Camels will suit your "T-ZONE" to a "T." Prove it for yourself!
